Robert grew up helping in the family restaurant from age 12 and has designed from the guest's side ever since. From 2014, alongside design school, Robert assisted advertising photographers in Munich and Stuttgart, organising and running large commercial shoots, and from 2017 ran a freelance design practice, including the visual identity of the women's handball team FRISCH AUF Göppingen from 2017 to 2022. Then came UX: co-leading the UX team on an award-winning exhibition, senior UX work at a design agency, turning simulation maths into a product at a research institute, and retraining full time in AI engineering. Since August 2026 Robert has been building Levelwork full time as co-founder.
